

Good-Bye Ms. Mary

BMI: 79740954

Key: G
Composer(s): David Graybeard

This needs lots of work.

^G I said good-bye to Ms. Mary, and some of her close ^C friends ^G
^G Been hangin' out with them, since I can't remember when ^C ^D
But it's ^G time for a change, start things over again ^C ^G
^G Even if all of them, might not understand ^D ^C ^G
^C Good-bye, Ms. Mary, it ^G sure has been real ^C ^G
^C Good-bye, Ms. Mary, you helped me to heal ^G ^D

I'll miss her insights, and her light-hearted fooling
Her not-so-subtle ways, her mental retooling
I wish I could keep her, involved in my life
But she's an awfully demanding, insidious wife
refrain

When I first embrace her, well I'm feeling just fine
But after the rapture, she's trouble on my mind
She burns so intensely, she does it so well
I barely noticed, I couldn't tell
refrain

I will always miss her, the smell of her perfume
I can't help but notice it, when I walk into a room
But the longing for her charms, does me a little harm
So I'll have to grin and bear it, and keep up my guard
refrain
