^C The clouds are movin' in, ^G driven by the cold north wind
^F And I can feel the warmth leavin' these old bones ^G
^C The leaves are fallin' down, orange and yellow fadin' out ^G
^F The color's leavin' here, til sometime again next year ^G
^{F G} And I just can't seem to care ^C
^{F G} No, I just can't seem to care ^C

And somethin's leavin' me, it's fallin' from the tree
The bits just drift away and disappear
And feelin's mostly gone, fallen to the ground
It's tumblin' in the wind, in crumbled gray and brown

refrain

The cold is movin' in, our only final friend
It's where we make our start, and where we'll make our end
Blown by a bigger wind, we'll fade back home again
Tossed along the ground, until we're finally gone

refrain
